

Describe a program or app on your computer or phone.

1. what the program/app is
2. when/where you found it,
3. how you use it
4. and how you feel about it.

companies. In your gift topic, you said one of your friend...

I app or program I want to introduce is wechat. It is a commercial app, which was invented by Tecent. Tecent is one of the largest company in China. There are serves advantages about wechat. The first one is it is really convient to people to keep in touch with his or her friends. And it don't cost money at all. You can send words, messages voice messages and even video messages. You can even make a video conversation with your friends as fas as you connecting Internet. The second one si you can share your ideas, your mood also picture to your friends in we-chat moment. This was only can be seen by your friends. It will help us to know more about friends.

dose not put on airs: have been using...since

I would like to talk about an smart phone app, wechat which I have been using since two years. In fact, we chat is Chinese version of "what's up", and was developed by Tecent company from the city of Shenzen. I use it as a tool to connect with my friends and family.

Chinese version helps your examiner understand

This example response to old people. Focus on logic

No exaggeration, I feel wechat is a phenomenal app for communication. Firstly, it is very easy to use, even for old people, for the reason that it provides a friendly interface: text field for input what you want, finish button for sending a piece of message. My grandparents have no difficult at all in using wechat. Besides, it supplies rich types of messages including words, voice and video messages. It also supports online video conversation, which saves the people who are lazy to type, like my mom.

By now, we have finished 1,2 and 3. One sentence, one question. answer briefly try your best to use not only, but also

However, what attracts me most is its moment function. Moment works as Facebook. Poeple share ideas, mood picture as well with their friends. But the main heightlights is its effort on privacy. Unlike Facebook, moment only allows your friends to see your posts. For me, this function not only gives more chance to share my life with my frineds, but also protect privacy well. The people who I do know cannot see anything about my sharings, which makes me feel very safe on the Internet.

2 keypoints: share life with friend, protect my privacy

have been doing..since

It is called present perfect continuous. Focus on "continuous". It means you have done something and you will go on doing it. I have been learning English since I was a little boy.