

Describe a kind of foreign food you tried

1. When you had it
2. Where you had it
3. What it was
4. and explain how you felt about it

Last month I tried the Thailand food for the first time in a restaurant with my friends, and among all the dishes, I like the smoked tofu best. The restaurant is located near our university, and it is famous for the Thailand food. At first, I'm not sure I will like it or not, but since every day the restaurant is packed with people, so I went there to have a try.

question 1, 2 and 3

To my surprise, the food there was so delicious that I thought it was un-matched for flavor. It tasted a little spicy, but suited my taste very well. The dishes were flavored with exotic herbs and spices. I had been to many countries in this world and tried many things, but I had never tasted any other delicious food like this. Thailand food soon became my favorite food.

key 1: flavor

I remember that at that time I just failed the exam, and I felt so frustrated that I didn't want to eat anything. But the Thailand food was so tempting that as soon as I saw it, I started feeling hungry. It was so mouth-watering and scrumptious that I ate it in high quantity. I think Thailand food has a magic power that can help me forget sadness and cheer up again.

key 2: cheer me up

key 3: cutlery

I also found an interesting thing about Thailand cutlery; they only use spoons and folks, so different from Chinese and Europeans, which was also a special experience.

exotic

from or in another country, especially a tropical one; seeming exciting and unusual because it is connected with foreign countries

tempting

something that is tempting is attractive, and makes people want to have it, do it, etc.
It was a tempting offer.
